

The Internet provides a wealth of information for those concerned with international business and trade. If you are looking for international newspapers and periodicals, NewsCentral and E&P MediaInfo Links offer links to many worldwide publications. Listed below are a number of additional international business resources.

Researching an International Business

- The Big Guide contains expert advice for anyone considering going abroad to study, volunteer, intern, teach, travel or work! (<http://www.workingoverseas.com/user/issi/5923>)
- globalEDGE provides an extensive index to international news, trade information, directories, mailing lists, and government resources. (<http://globaledge.msu.edu/ibrd/ibrd.asp>)
- The Wright Research Center offers profiles on over 18,000 companies worldwide. (<http://profiles.wisi.com>)
- At Hoover's UK, find profiles for numerous U.K. and European companies (www.hoovers.co.uk).
- Foreign Government Resources contains links to embassies, Chambers of Commerce, international agencies, news, and demographic resources. (http://www.lib.berkeley.edu/doemoff/gov_foreign.html)
- Tradeport provides a comprehensive database of country-specific guides and market research reports. (www.tradeport.org)
- At Kompass, search an international database of 1.5 million manufacturing companies. An excellent site for finding sales prospects. (www.kompass.com)
- InternationalAffairs offers a growing directory of international resources arranged by topic, region and country. (www.internationalaffairs.com)
- Like the SEC EDGAR database, SEDAR provides access to annual reports and other securities information for Canadian companies. (www.sedar.com)
- Locate phone numbers from around the world at the International Phone Directories web site: www.whothere.lycos.com/wwphone/world.html.
- Other sites to find international phone directories are: www.infobel.com/teldir and www.infobel.com/world/.

Information taken from Debbie Flanagan's Web site. "Researching Companies Online"
Copyright © 1998, 1999, 2000 by Debbie Flanagan, Fort Lauderdale, FL. All rights reserved.